

You mixed up the values of the length and the width. Remember that the length is twice the width, not the other way around.