

Incorrect. Substitute the values from each ordered pair into each of the inequalities for x and y . If the resulting statement is true, the ordered pair is a solution to that inequality. If the resulting statement is not true, the ordered pair is not a solution to that inequality.