

The system is consistent because it has no solution.