You chose a graph that includes the correct related boundary line, $y = x$, and the correct shaded region. However, the inequality is less than or equal to, so points on the line are included in the solution. This means the boundary line should be solid.