

Since any value for  $x$  will make  $x = x$  true, any value of  $x$  will give you a solution to the system. Because there are an infinite number of different possible values, there are an infinite number of solutions.