

It is true that graph III represents a consistent system. However, it is not the only one that does so. A consistent system could have one solution, as III does, or it could have more than one solution.