

The first two equations are correct. However, the small is 20 inches less than the large: $S = L - 20$. This does not lead to the third equation.