

The first and second equations are correct. However, the small is 20 inches less than the large:  $S = L - 20$ . This does not lead to the third equation.