

You probably factored the numerator and denominator correctly, but made a mistake when simplifying. Separate the like factors from the others, and simplify fractions with equal numerators and denominators to 1. Be careful that the remaining factors are correctly placed in the numerator and denominator.