

You may have correctly multiplied by the reciprocal of the divisor and started to simplify correctly, but incorrectly "canceled" like x terms. It is only common factors in the numerator and denominator, not terms, that will "cancel" when you put them in the same fraction and reduce. The correct answer is: $\frac{x+3}{x-4}$