This is a common multiple, but not the least common multiple. To find the LCM, find the prime factorization of each expression. Include in the LCM each prime factor and each variable the maximum number of times it appears in a single factorization.