

It appears that you added the numbers under the radicals as well those outside of the radicals. When adding radical terms, if the radicals themselves are the same (for example, both square roots and both radicands equal to 10), then they are like terms. Combine them just as you would combine  $9a + 9a$ . Do this for all like terms.