It is true that the range of ages for the data set from 6 p.m. is less than the range of ages for the data set from 10 a.m. But this information does not indicate how young or old the people are, or if they are the age of young drivers.