

You just switched the places of the numbers. You can find the conjugate of a binomial that includes radicals by changing the sign of the second term to its opposite.