

You may have isolated the radical and squared it, but forgot to square the other side. Make sure that you square both sides, and then solve the new equation.