You probably used the correct formula $\theta = \dfrac{s}{r}$, with s representing arc length and r representing the radius, but you forgot to convert one of them. In order to use this formula you need to have the two measurements in the same units.