

You may have recognized that the given graph is symmetric about the y -axis, as is the graph of $y = \cos \theta$. However, the given graph has a valley with the y -axis running through it, while the graph of $y = \cos \theta$ has a hill with the y -axis running through it.