You may have subtracted 3 from both sides and stopped there. You should square both sides after that to get rid of the radical. Check your solution in the original equation.