Temperature affects the speed of sound. The speed ($v$) of sound near Earth's surface, in meters per second, is given by $v = 20\sqrt{t + 273}$, where $t$ stands for the temperature of the air in degrees Celsius.

If the speed of sound is 340 meters per second, the temperature is _____ degrees Celsius.