

You may have thought that, because you found $0 = 8$ while eliminating variables, there are an infinite number of solutions. However, there would be an infinite number of solutions for a system that leads to an equation such as $0 = 0$.