

You may have thought this system had an infinite number of solutions because when you attempted to eliminate a variable in the first two equations you got the statement  $0 = 0$ . However, if you try to eliminate a variable in the second and third equations, you get the statement  $0 = 2$ . Because this statement is false, this system has no solution.