

When isolating the variable, make sure that you do the same thing to both sides of the equation. For example, you can multiply both sides by 3 and you can divide both sides by πr^2 .