

The graph shows a relationship in which, as one variable increases, the other one decreases. This is an inverse variation.