

In an inverse variation, as one variable increases, the other decreases. This does not happen in one of these graphs, so it does not represent an inverse variation.