

Using k as the constant of variation, which equation represents a direct variation?