

Use the given type of variation and the values for the independent variable  $x$  and the dependent variable  $y$  to find the value of  $k$ , the constant of variation.