

You found a common denominator by multiplying the two denominators, but then you just added the numerators. To add fractions you first need to find the least common multiple of the denominators. For these fractions it is $36m^2n$. Then rewrite both fractions with this denominator. Add the numerators.