

You found the least common multiple of the constant factors, but the variables have the incorrect exponents. Include in the LCM each variable the maximum number of times it appears in a single factorization.