

You may have simplified the first radical correctly, but then treated the coefficient of the second radical as a 0. If there is no number in front of a radical, the coefficient is 1.