

It appears that you rewrote the equation so that the right side is 0, but then read the three constants from left to right. Standard form of a quadratic equation is $ax^2 + bx + c = 0$. You must reorder the terms to match this form and then find a , b , and c .