It appears that you simply read the three constants from left to right. Standard form of a quadratic equation is $ax^2 + bx + c = 0$. You must rewrite the equation so that one side is 0. Then reorder the terms to match this form and find a, b, and c.