

Entering the value 2 in the table will create a relation in which the input 2 has two outputs: 1 and 4. Because there is an input with more than one output, this relation is not a function. The correct answer is 4.