Plot the point $(-4, 0)$ on the coordinate plane. A vertical line running through this point would also intersect the plotted point $(-4, 1)$. This shows that the graph does not represent a function; it fails the vertical line test.