You may have substituted only the value 0 into this function to find the point $(0, -3)$, which the graph does contain. However, you should create a table of values for more than one point, including negative and positive inputs, to see if the resulting ordered pairs match the graph. The correct answer is $f(x) = 3x - 3$.