

You may have squared the left side and not the right side, to get the incorrect equation $x + 10 = -4$. That equation would have $x = -14$ as a solution. Make sure that you always perform the same operation on both sides of an equation. The correct answer is that there is no solution.