

You may have tried to square both sides of the equation, but incorrectly got  $-16$  on the right side. Remember that the square of a negative number is a positive number. The correct answer is that there is no solution.