

The number of pillows on a couch will depend on different factors. Two couches with the same length can have a different number of pillows on them. So a single input of couch length will produce different outputs of number of pillows. Therefore, the number of pillows on a couch is not a function of the length of a couch.