

The graph represents a function.

The point $(n, -3)$ is plotted together with these points, and the new graph still represents a function. If n is an integer between -5 and 5 , what value can it have? The value of n can be _____.