

You cannot take the square root of a negative number because the result would be an imaginary number. On the other hand, you can take the square root of 0 or any positive number. This means that x must be greater than or equal to 0. So the domain is $x \geq 0$.