The domain is all real numbers, because there exist both positive and negative square roots.

The domain is all real numbers, because there exist both positive and negative square roots.