

There are no real values in the domain, because you cannot take the square root of a negative number.