You may not have used a calculator to calculate $f(x)$ for each input, or you failed to recognize that negative inputs must have an output of less than 1.