The graphs of these two functions will show exponential growth and exponential decay, but they are not mirror images. For example, the graph of the first function contains the point $\left(1,\frac{3}{2}\right)$. The reflection of this is $\left(-1,\frac{3}{2}\right)$. However, the graph of the second function contains the point $\left(-1,3\right)$ instead.