You may have thought that because the x and the 2 are switched going from one function to the other, the graph would be reflected. However, the shapes of the graphs of these two functions are very different. Remember that the graph of $y = x^2$ is a parabola, which has a U-shape.