

You recognized that the given graphs look like those of decreasing exponential functions, and this choice is a pair of decreasing exponential functions. The mistake that you made has to do with relative size. Try substituting  $x = -1$  into each of these functions to find a point on each function's graph. Then locate these on the actual graphs.