

You may have found the correct factor, but then multiplied this amount by the original Richter scale measurement of 4.2 and gave this amount as the answer.