

An earthquake monitoring station measured the amplitude of the waves during a recent tremor. The waves were 100 times as large as  $A_0$ , the smallest detectable wave. How high did this earthquake measure on the Richter scale?

Use the formula  $R = \log\left(\frac{A}{A_0}\right)$  to determine the answer.

$R =$  _____