

Fun is the smallest section, so Charlie spends less on this than on any other category. The correct answer is that housing is the largest percent of Charlie's budget.