You probably used the least and greatest values of the box-and-whisker plot and found the midrange of the data set, not the median.