

Incorrect. The left and right ends of the whiskers on the plot represent the least and greatest values in the data set. The difference between these values is the range. The correct answer is 18.